Red Cross Drive Reaches $904.55; To Close Monday

Final Tabulation Expected to Show Campaign Over the Top

TWO NEW REPORTS Additional Funds Turned in Saturday By the Canvassers

The Red Cross-United Charities fund went to $904.55 Saturday noon with every prospect of making the $1,000 goal by Monday, when it is expected to close out the drive.

Two additional team reports were turned in Saturday morning, by the team of M. M. Smyth and C. C. Spragins; and J. K. Sales and Cecil Weaver.

There will be some additional money reported Monday possibly by the other teams, John P. Cox and Robert Huggins; Robert Wilson and L. Carter Johnson; and George W. Ware; but for the most part the campaign has been completed—the drive having taken approximately three full days, with most of the money raised in two days.

Final results will be tabulated Monday by Alex. H. Washburn, chairman of the emergency campaign, when it is expected that the goal will have been reached.

Legislative Sidelights

By J. C. STARK
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Two pieces of legislation which supporters claimed would give relief in a large way to drought-stricken farmers and unemployed persons in Arkansas emerged successfully from the legislature the past week.

One of them, the so-called Toland-Mitchell agricultural relief bill, already has been signed by Governor Parnell and become a law.

The other was the highway department's biennial appropriation bill, subjected to fierce assaults in the house early in the session.

The relief bill makes $1,000,000 available in loans for capital stock of agricultural credit corporations and with the capital stock as additional security, will make possible loans to farmers from the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Louis up to $15,000,000.

With the signing of the highway appropriation bill by the governor, the highway department will resume large scale construction operations which were halted a couple of weeks ago because of the controversy over the bill in the house.

A few hours after the appropriation bill completed its legislative course through its passage of the senate, Governor Parnell addressed a nationwide radio audience in behalf of Red Cross relief drive and declared five million dollars worth of road construction would be under way in Arkansas later this month and $15,000,000 worth would be started during the year.

Resumption of highway operations, officials say, will greatly relieve unemployment conditions in the state.

Two other important measures were finally approved by both houses and signed by the governor during the week. One adds a half cent tax to each package of twenty cigarettes to produce revenue for a building program for state colleges and the other adds another half cent tax for a building program at the University of Arkansas.

The latter measure produced a controversy in the senate when an effort was made to use part of the revenue to a proposed children's and mothers' aid bureau, sponsored by the American Legion. An amendment providing for division of the revenue was voted down.

Late in the week, the senate killed the Clark government reorganization bill which had passed the house. Thus the senate and house are at loggerheads over government reorganization, the senate being more favorable to the plan offered by Governor Parnell while the house indicated bitter opposition to this.

The senate also passed a bill originating in that body, which would raise the gasoline tax from five to six cents a gallon and provide as a turn-back to counties for county road purposes, 12 1/2 per cent of the amount of bonds sold during the year by the highway department, which would amount to $1,975,000.

One of the most bitter debates of the session occurred in the house over a bill by Campbell of Sevier, which it passed, shortening the time for non-residents to obtain divorce decrees in Arkansas from one year to ninety days. It was said by opponents and admitted by some of its sponsors to be an attempt to attract wealthy persons to Arkansas to obtain divorces.

The half-way mark of the session was passed during the week.

Stewart Proposes Silver Service Set For Will Rogers

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Friday the thirteenth started auspiciously for Will Rogers, so far as the Arkansas state senate is concerned.

Senator Ned Stewart of Lewisville introduced a bill to appropriate $2500 to purchase a silver service set for the philosopher-comedian as a token of the state's appreciation of his contributions for drought sufferers in Arkansas.

12 New Armories Planned in State

Hope Among Cities Listed to Receive New Building

LITTLE ROCK.—The State Military Department announced Friday that proceeds from $40,000 worth of notes, authorized by a bill approved by the governor Thursday, will be used to build new National Guard armories at Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, Russellville, Dardanelle, Batesville, Walnut Ridge, El Dorado, Hope, Prescott, Nashville and Ashdown. The notes will be retired from the department's share of the present franchise tax without increasing the tax or levying any new tax.

Adj. Gen. E. L. Compere estimated that more than $11,000 a year in armory rent will be saved by completing the armory construction program and that allotment of federal funds for military purposes will be increased materially by building modern armories. The building program was launched four years ago and 18 armories have been completed. With completion of buildings in the cities listed, every National Guard unit in the state will have a permanent armory. Several armories will be enlarged, improved and repaired with proceeds of the note sale.

The Military Department was notified that a portion of the special fund of $1,000,000 appropriated by Congress recently for construction work in various National Guard camps will be allotted to Arkansas for improvements and repairs to buildings and equipment at Camp Pike. The money will not be allotted to projects which cannot be completed by June 30, 1931.

Hot Springs Camp Authorizes Burial

Man Found Murdered Near Memphis Is Identified

MEMPHIS.—(AP)—Hot Springs Arkansas Camp of the Spanish American War Veterans Saturday telegraphed instructions to arrange burial of a body found slain near here and identified as that of Charles Funnell, 64, a brother of John Funnell of Madrid, Nebraska.

County authorities here presume that Funnell was a member of the Hot Springs camp.

The body which had been clubbed and buried secretly was discovered Monday.

Authorities believe that the slayer intended to take the victim's pension. The telegram received here did not specify the basis of the identification.

Senate Body to Inspect Pen Farms

Will Spend Saturday and Sunday at Tucker and Cummins

LITTLE ROCK.—The Senate Penitentiary Committee, of which Senator Ned A. Stewart of Lewisville is chairman, went to the penitentiary farm at Tucker Friday afternoon to begin a two-day inspection of the prison farm.

The committee will inspect the Wright Bros. plantation today. This farm nearly 7,000 acres was bought several weeks ago by the Penitentiary Commission under terms by which the state will pay for it out of a third of the crops produced on it.

From Tucker, the committee will go to the farm for negro prisoners at Cummins, Lincoln county, and will spend the night and part of tomorrow there.

Other members of the committee are: Senators Roy Milums, J. N. George, Tate McGee and Creed Caldwell.

13-Year-Old Duck Dead

MT. CARMEL, Pa.—(AP)—A duck that reached the age of 13 years before death lived at Mowery, near here. It was an Indian runner breed, owned by N. H. Lancker, blacksmith. Until it was ten years of age, the duck laid eggs regularly.

Negro Is Slain By Party of Men at House Near City

Walter Easter, 28, Lured From Home and Shot to Death

CORONER TO PROBE

Dr. J. H. Weaver Reports Murder—Will Submit Case to Grand Jury

Walter Easter, 28-year-old negro, was lured from his home southeast of Hope about 10 o'clock Friday night by a party of five men and shot to death.

Easter's wife told a coroner's jury Saturday morning a harrowing story of sitting by her dying husband's bedside all night with her aged father and two small children, afraid to leave the house and go for a doctor.

Dr. J. H. Weaver, county coroner, said Easter's murder was an "outrage" and declared the case would be carried to the spring grand jury. He summoned Sheriff John L. Wilson and Deputy Prosecutor John Vesey. The coroner told the examining jury that he believed Easter's wife's father knew the identity of one or more of the men who killed Easter, but was afraid to reveal their names.

Jury Reports Murder
The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Easter "came to his death by gunshot wounds inflicted by parties unknown to this jury." The report was signed by the following:

Dorsey McKee, foreman, A. B. Gunn, J. M. Reese, Tom Rodgers, Lester Orr, Arthur Franks, A. Andrews, E. C. Robison, Speedy Hutton, E. G. Coop, Bert Hugen and L. C. Yeum.

Easter's wife told the coroner that between 9 and 10 o'clock Friday night a party of men came to their home three miles southeast of Hope and broke a window with the butt of a gun. They demanded that Easter come out to them, holding his hands up, and carrying a light.

The negro went to the door, and upon opening it was shot in the side. He ran back in the house but was shot a second time, in the hip. The family gathered around him, too frightened to leave the house for a physician, and about 6 o'clock Saturday morning the negro died.

Coroner Weaver reported that an examination of the property revealed that a car had been parked at a crossroads 300 yards from the house and five men got out, their trucks showing in the mud.

In Previous Shooting
The negro Easter was in trouble previous to the mortal affray Friday night.

Last December he was accused of shooting Marchman Gentry, filling station proprietor on the Rosston road, wounding him slightly in the thumb. They had quarreled over a debt, it was said; but were reported to have settled the matter amicably the same day.

Easter left this section recently, and returned only a few days ago, the coroner's jury was informed.

Bearden to Return Fugitive to State

Man Under Arrest Wanted in Connection With Bridge Robbery

Special Officer J. E. Bearden is to leave early Sunday morning for Ardmore, Okla., where he goes to return Roy Wilson to Hempstead county, on a charge of highway robbery in connection with holding up and robbery of the State Toll Bridge at Fulton on the night of January 11.

Soon after the robbery Mr. Bearden was detailed to work on the case. The territory of western Oklahoma and Texas was covered with circulars describing the robbers and the automobile which they were driving, which led to their arrest in Ardmore, Oklahoma, after a fight with officers in which one of the men, later identified as Pat O'Day, was killed. His companion, Roy Wilson, was arrested.

Columbus Teams Defeat Opponents

Mineral Springs Girls and DeQueen Boys Are Beaten Here

Columbus basketball teams and their supporting fans who heaved the rain and came to Hope Friday night were rewarded in winning two games, one for the girls and one for the boys.

In the girls' game Columbus led their opponents, the girls from Mineral Springs, by a long lead, the score ending 35 to 13. This game was fast and caused no little excitement among the fans and spectators.

The boys played DeQueen, leading them by a score of 31 to 15.

Banker's Daughter Sought

Miss Florence Parker, step-daughter of a prominent and wealthy New York banker, who is the object of a nation-wide search. She is five feet, two inches tall, weighs 100 pounds, has brown hair cut in a boyish bob, brown eyes and a light complexion.

Bulletins

MEMPHIS.—(AP)—Thomas H. Sampson, 76, president of the Amharwood Manufacturing company of Helena, Arkansas, and New Orleans, La., died Saturday. The body will be sent to Boston, Mass., where the family is prominent.

Veterans Aid Vote Expected Monday

Early Passage Predicted By Senators Longworth and Snell

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The desire of a group of administration leaders to ascertain where the money will be obtained Friday cast an unexpected obstacle in the journey of veterans relief legislation through the house.

Despite this attitude of four members of the ways and means committee, Speaker Longworth and Chairman Snell of the rules committee predicted early passage, possibly on Monday, of the proposal to increase the low value of veterans' certificates from 22 1/2 to 50 per cent at an estimated cost of $700,000,000.

The four ways and means committee members—Chairman Hawley and Representatives Ramseyer of Iowa, Treadwell of Massachusetts and Chinnibell of Illinois, all republicans—voted against a favorable report on the measure which was presented Friday to the house.

However, 17 committee members were registered for the bill which will be brought up in the house Monday under suspension of rules which prohibits amendments and limit debate.

Man Held on False Pretense Charges

Hot Springs Man Claims to Be Member Original Caldwell & Co.

HOT SPRINGS.—(AP)—M. G. Caldwell, president of the Caldwell Investment Company here and Caldwell and Company of Little Rock, was arraigned in city court Saturday on a charge of false pretense for an alleged stock transaction. The case was continued until February 19.

He was released on $2,000 bond after his arraignment.

Mrs. Ledia B. Steele alleged in the complaint that Caldwell induced her to buy one thousand dollars stock in his company, representing to her he owned the original charter of Caldwell and Company of Nashville, Tenn. Charters of both companies were revoked Friday by the blue sky division of the Arkansas railroad commission for failure to file a semi-annual statement.

Hawks and Rogers Are Forced to Land

Rain Forces Plane to Land in New Mexico After Leaving Arkansas

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—Frank Hawks, noted speed tier whose trip from Texarkana to Los Angeles, with Will Rogers as a passenger was interrupted at non Friday when a rainstorm forced their plane down at East Vaughn, N. M., planned to take off from there, for Albuquerque in a few minutes, he informed the T. A. T. field here by telephone conversation late Friday. It is expected the pair will spend the night here.

TEXARKANA.—Rogers and Hawks zoomed away toward the West from Texarkana in the wet and early morning Friday, after Rogers had raised $3,349 in cash and $451 in pledges at an unemployment benefit here Thursday night.

Flying under a low "ceiling," the big blue plane aroused residents from breakfast tables as it roared low over the house tops.

Administration of the unemployment fund is in the hands of a committee consisting of L. J. Kosminsky, W. A. McCartney, Sr., and Mrs. D. A. Merriman, but their meeting was delayed Friday by the latter's illness.

The $380 which Rogers "assessed" against local business men began coming in in the way of checks to the Chamber of Commerce.

"It was one of the best shows I've ever seen," Henry Moore Jr., one of the donors, declared. "Now that I know all the money is going to hire labor, I'm glad to give $20. I'd rather give $20 to get a man a job than $1 to feed people with."

Officers Probe Derailment Plan

Porter Finds Rails on the Trestle Had Been Removed

CORSICANA, Texas.—(AP)—Officers Friday night were investigating an attempt early Friday to derail a passenger train on the Texas and New Orleans railway at a trestle about four miles north of Corsicana.

The train, running between Dallas and Houston and carrying seven Pullman cars, was stopped when the engineer saw a red semaphore signal a few hundred yards from the bridge.

A negro porter, sent to investigate, found that the rails had been removed from the trestle. A semaphore on the other side of the bridge had been put out of commission, but the would-be wreckers apparently failed to find the other signal device. Railway tools evidently stolen from the Cotton Belt lines were found along the trestle.

Conductor A. Kjoft said he saw a man running from the right of way, trying to dodge the light of the conductor's flash.

Revolt Said to Be Crisis of Danger in Reign of Alfonso

Resignation of Premier Damazo Berenger Is Accepted

CANCEL ELECTIONS

Monarch Leaders With- draw Support of Cabinet's Election Program

MADRID.—(AP)—The government of Premier General Damazo Berenger fell Saturday, bringing to a head a crisis which appeared to be the most dangerous of any faced by King Alfonso during his long reign.

King Alfonso accepted the resignation and cancelled all parliamentary elections scheduled for March 1 and 15 and immediately began conferences with political leaders for the formation of a new cabinet.

Monarchists Withdraw

The situation which brought about the cabinet's fall developed Friday night when Count De Romanones and other liberal monarchist leaders withdrew their support from the cabinet election program.

Failure of the Spanish civil ministry Saturday may precipitate the long-awaited revolution in that monarchy, according to political observers.

Agitation for a republic has grown intermittently during the last five years of the reign of King Alfonso. It was made the basis of threatened revolutionary attacks (which) led the government to declare a dictatorship several years ago in the interest of public safety.

The dictatorship was withdrawn last year, but was followed at once by a military coup d'etat led by the famous Spanish aviator, Major Franco, which involved spirited fighting along the Franco-Spanish frontier, but which ultimately failed.

Victory For King

King Alfonso led the royal troops personally during the maneuvers in the field, and victory was regarded as a personal triumph for the monarch. Evidences that King Alfonso was keenly aware of the dissatisfaction existing through the kingdom, appeared last year when he ordered his famous racing stable withdrawn from all the racing meets of Europe, and sold off his more expensive horses. The king also reduced the royal garage, saving only a few moderate-priced cars.

Spain, as with most European countries except France, has felt the world-wide depression in business severely—and in the racing world particularly. King Alfonso is generally credited with heroic measures in being able to maintain the monarchy thus far.

Red Cross to Halt Feeding March 1

Present Ration System to End as Farmer Ob- tains Credit

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The beginning of the end of the Red Cross general feeding program is set for March 1 in Southern plantation states.

National headquarters made known Friday that the present ration system will be abandoned as fast as farmers establish credit. In Louisiana and adjacent plantation states March 1 has been set to stop general feeding because the first two weeks of that month are the "furnishing" period for cotton farmers when credit arrangements for the next crop are made.

Representative Sandlin, democrat, Louisiana, disclosed the plans for his state following a meeting with the Everett Dix, assistant manager for the Eastern area, informing him of the instructions sent chapter chairmen in Southern states.

"Families should be advised as early as possible that financing arrangements will be expected to take care of family food as well as crop requirements by March 1," the chairman wrote.

"Families unable to make financial arrangements should be treated as special cases and exceptions to the rule that general feeding will end at that time. Families able to make crop arrangements should not be fed beyond that arrangement date."

Elaborating on this statement, officials at headquarters said the general feeding program will be closed down over a period of several weeks in accordance with the varied credit systems in the 20 drought states.

They predicted the Red Cross would still be feeding fairly generally throughout March and perhaps, in some remote and hard-hit sections, into April.

In justice to donors to the relief fund, they said, the Red Cross will cease feeding people just as soon as they could be stimulated to care for themselves. Supplies will not be cut off, however, until credit is available.

A Futile Gesture

EDGAR LEE MASTERS, the poet, had a very good time digging up the bones in the cemetery at Spoon River and making the ghosts talk. When he wrote his anthology he rattled the bones of everybody from the village milliner to the neglected wives.

Now he has gone back to the cemetery again, but this time he is trying to tear down a monument. . . . the memorial that lovers of democracy everywhere have dedicated to Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Masters would take it right out of the graveyard and not even leave a marker.

The author of the new Lincoln book describes Abraham Lincoln as a petty politician.

A petty politician could scarcely have led a nation through the harrowing days of 1861 to 1865 and bound up its bruises at the close. It isn't likely that he would have expressed a sound theory of government that became symbolic of democracy around the world.

The shrines which have been erected to the memory of the great president have roots to deep for the little tin spade with which Mr. Masters must do his digging. They won't be moved.

And after all, even though the author might have expressed a truth here and there, we wonder why he considered it his duty to remove carvations from a cemetery again. The world has all too few heroes. It needs someone who is upright and staunch and stalwart to revere. Influence is very strong. They who take away trust and faith from others perform a wrong.

But Abraham Lincoln has his place. The book won't injure him. It was merely an unnecessary gesture which belongs in the cemetery where Mr. Masters appears to like to linger.

Prisons and Shrines

SOME Washington official recently proposed that a federal penitentiary be built on the site of Fort McHenry, famous as the birthplace of the Star-Spangled Banner; and the proposal has drawn a hot retort from Paul C. Wolman, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The mere suggestion that Fort McHenry be torn down and a penal institution be erected in its place," says the commander, "is particularly repugnant to every patriotic American."

This is quite true; and the fact merely emphasizes how far our penitentiaries fall short of what they should be. If a prison were really a place where human derelicts could be reclaimed and turned into honorable and useful citizens—as, some day, all prisons will be—we would think it quite appropriate that one be built on a historic shrine. But as things are; well, we must agree with Commander Wolman.

A Good Investment

OUR GEOGRAPHY tells us there are 350 million people in India and a like amount in China. In both countries there are 700 million people, or nearly six times as many as there are in the United States. It occurs to us that here is a great untouched market for Hooey tooth paste and tooth brushes. The thing to do is to educate the people of these countries to the advantages of using tooth brushes. One tube of tooth paste and one tooth brush to each one would swamp the factories of this country for months. Just at present the chief source of education for these people along these lines is the missionaries. The mission work is greatly under-financed. Why wouldn't it be a good business as well as a good deed for American industry to aid mission work of all kinds to the extent of several million dollars a year. Not alone with the idea of inducing the Indians to use tooth paste, but for the very evident reason that as these people become more educated in matters of sanitation and health and present day practices, their needs are going to increase and in the measure that they do, will they become larger and larger users of manufactured products. —Minden, (La.) Signal Tribune.

The proposal of the government to pay half compensation to the soldiers of the World War will not only relieve thousands of them who are needy and should have it, but it will also pay a patriotic debt it owes to every man who put up his time and his life in defense of his country. The men who went to France and came back are not the men now they were when they went away. They are reaching middle age in life, and they are also at the turning point between well to do and successful business men and citizens, and need to do well, because of a lack of means to start out with. Thousands of men are hanging in the balance right now between the past and the future, and a little help for the services rendered when they could have been doing something for themselves, might make a wonderful difference in the outcome of their future efforts and lives. —Camden News.

Texas raises about nine-tenths of the spinach grown in this country. Most anything can be expected of Texas after that.

New Chicago Skyline!

Daily Washington Letter

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Colonel Arthur Woods, chairman of the Emergency Committee for Employment, says someone ought to write a story about what the city of Buffalo has done to meet its unemployment emergency. Woods thinks that Mayor Charles E. Roesch's employment committee has done such a "splendid" job of planned community action that he has sent a lengthy report of its activities to several thousand local emergency committees throughout the country.

The mayor got himself a committee of 65 members with an executive committee of 15 to carry on daily work, along with a volunteer staff. The committee functioned as a clearing house and a planning board. It decided that it would commit itself to a 100 per cent objective as regarded relief, letting no obstacle prevent meeting the needs of every case of dire suffering, but admitted that it could only be partially successful in trying to get everyone a job who didn't have one.

Organized public and private charities, the committee found, would be able to handle all cases of real distress. The committee concerned itself with seeing that such agencies were kept adequately financed and staffed. It also undertook to co-ordinate their work and to make the needy aware of the existence of agencies which would help them.

The committee helped put on a drive for private charity funds and city and county relief and lodging facilities were expanded. The sub-committee on relief figured out that an average of 3000 dependent families would need a relief fund of about $1,733,000 in the first six months of this year, most of which came from the city treasury. The committee found that the most elusive part of the unemployment problem comprised cases of persons who because of pride or other reasons refused to apply for relief. So it had school teachers report all cases of undernourished children and got churches, clubs and lodges to check up on needy adults.

Provided Municipal Jobs

Nor does Buffalo appear to have overlooked many bets in the attempt to provide employment. Projects for municipal work were studied and somewhere near 1000 men have been hired for three days a week at $5 a day for such jobs as grading and tree-pruning.

The retail merchants advanced the Christmas buying season by about two weeks, ballyhooed a campaign for stimulation of buying and, according to the committee, both created an additional volume of business and hired about 2000 extra employees two or three weeks earlier than they normally would have been engaged. Hiring and after-Christmas dismissals were made on the basis of trying to engage or retain employees with dependent families.

About 25,000 employees of all types in the city were circularized and urged to pro-rate available jobs so that everyone might be assured of at least part-time work, give preference to employees or applicants supporting families, eliminate overtime by hiring extra help, do repair and maintenance work and new construction and develop and make new articles previously contemplated. Additional suggestions were made to the larger employers once or twice a week.

Employers Co-operated

Various manufacturers and other employers, the committee says, reduced weekly schedules, shortened daily hours, rotated employees on work, looked up and assisted former employees, repaired and replaced machinery to the feasible limit, developed new products and did other things that provided work for more people.

A women's division put on a campaign for odd jobs, with about 30 speakers running around the city and acting as a clearing house for Buffalo's five free employment agencies. The women sent out 55,000 circulars with electric light bills, listing about 40 kinds of odd jobs around the house that it had men and women willing to do.

OUT OUR WAY

At 3, He's A Mental Giant

Three-year-old Van Dyke Tiers of Downers Grove, Illinois, a Chicago suburb, is acclaimed as one of the most brilliant youngsters in the nation—and for reason enough, too. He can read and write English extensively, is studying Greek and Latin, is familiar with mathematics and knows a good deal about geography. Above, he is shown demonstrating his ability to point out any place on the map; in the inset, he is shown practicing the Greek alphabet. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tiers.

"I like to sleep in old houses with wind-cracking shutters," says a noted columnist. He may be brave, but likely he's saying this for a blind.

Chambers of Commerce seeking publicity for their cities might take a lesson from Bostonians. They used their bean.

The moral of the Smedley Butler incident seems to be: "If you have a secret, don't tell it to the marines."

It makes little difference, from a financial point of view, whether you tear or sign on the dotted line.

The Harvard student who threw a grapefruit at Rudy Vallee and missed, has been dismissed. The college seems justified in dealing thus severely with a man with no better aim in life.

"Isn't this the limit?" as the thirsty voyager eagerly inquired as the liner passed the three-mile point.

There are certainly trying times for General Smedley Butler.

The wife of the flying squadron here is probably the only one who can trump an ace and get away with it.

"One good turn deserves another," said the girl in the window as she flipped another pancake.

Men will get so tired of women using cosmetics, says a beauty expert, that they will turn in relief to milk-maids. But on cold winter mornings, even milk-maids handle cold cream.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

A Finnish Fight

THE Finns were second to the athletes of the United States in the Ninth Olympic Games at Amsterdam, in 1928. Since then they have been coming rapidly. Like the ambitious football team that started signal practice as soon as the pistol shot ended the big game, the Finns were practicing for 1932 before the crowds had filed out of the arena after the 1928 games.

Rumar Ohi, a newspaperman from Helsinki, is the advance agent of the team, and already is in San Francisco, preparing the way. While reticent about his team's chances, he indicates that when the points are added, Finland may have made up the few that it lacked for victory in the last Olympic games. Ohi came early "to learn the language," he says.

Nurmi and Others

THE Finnish contingent will be led by the imperturbable heringswallower, Paavo Nurmi. Ohi says Nurmi is beginning to creak a bit in the joints and may compete only in the 10,000-meter event and the marathon. Nurmi believes he can set a new record over the 20-mile route.

Nurmi is only one of a great crew of runners that will represent Finland. Willie Ritola, who defeated the Phantom in the 5000 meters at Amsterdam, is to be a competitor. There is a newcomer, Wiranen, and Ohi thinks he may be beating both Ritola and Nurmi before the year is over. Another strong runner over the 5000 to 10,000 meters is Talo Loukola. If you think that name is strange, listen to this one: T. Tso-Tollo, a middle-distance runner.

Besides these, there are some field candidates whose records constitute threats to Yankee domination. Akilles Jarvinen, winner of the world pentathlon championship last year, will be in the lists. So will Paavo Ytola, winner of the Amsterdam pentathlon. The new world record holder in the javelin event, Matti Jarvinen, brother of

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

EDWARD MORGAN LEWIS, president of the New Hampshire State College, used to be a star pitcher for the Boston Braves. . . . The New York commission barred Schmeling as champion because he refused to fight Sharkey. . . . The Illinois commission banned wrestling last year when Jim Londos refused to enter a championship tournament. . . . There you have it working both ways. . . . After Londos refused to enter the Illinois tournament, he organized a tournament of his own at Cincinnati, where ring sport is ruled locally and not by a state board. . . . Pesek and Londos reached the finals, but Pesek was thrown from a horse, said he, hurting his shoulder so badly he could not meet Londos, giving the Greek the title by default. . . . What title? Just one of the wrestling titles. . . . You can pick them up in any 10-cent store.

Akilles, and E. Penttila, who was third in the javelin throw at Amsterdam, will compete.

Athletes Come High

SOME idea of the tremendous expense the European countries will bear in sending their athletes to Los Angeles is gained from the Finnish budget. Between 30 and 40 men will travel in the Finn contingent, and the bare inside expense for each man is $500. Thirty athletes would cost the Finnish Olympic committee 600,000 marks, which leads one to believe that even though Finland is a cold country, all the assets are not frozen.

Ohi says that many business firms pay the expenses of their own athletes, relieving the government of a burden.

Miller Breeds New Cattle

FONCA CITY, Okla.—On a new breed of cattle, the result of crossing Brahman cows from India with the American buffalo, is being raised on the 101 Ranch here by Col. Zerk T. Miller. The new breed is being developed, Miller explained, to discover a new kind of beef animal that will pasture well and produce better meat than the buffalo.

SAINT VALENTINE'S DAY
Not always is a Valentine composed of fancy paper. With buds and birds and clever words and cupid all in proper. Sometimes it's just a line to tell how one heart loves another well. How one heart hopes the year will bless. Another heart with happiness. Oh, birds and darts and sugar hearts. Are very gay and fine. But often just a faithful word will make a Valentine. —Selected.

W. M. Allen made a business trip to Dierks today.

Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Haynes for the past few days, left Friday for her home in Monticello.

Miss Merle Vick of the Junior-High School faculty, left this morning to spend the week-end visiting with home folks in Arkadelphia.

Friends of Miss Louise Knobel, who formerly lived in this city, will be interested in the following item clipped from an Eastern Paper. "The study of moths and insects, had developed from a pastime into a career for Miss Louise Knobel of Arkansas, who arrived in Worcester this week to arrange the rare collection of moths and butterflies at the Worcester Museum of Natural History. Miss Knobel will be the guest of Miss Grace L. Dickinson 12 Windsor St., honorary curator of Entomology at the Museum, during her stay in the city. Collecting of moths became her hobby while Miss Knobel lived in Hope, Ark., she revealed yesterday, collecting assumed the proportions of a career, and for six years she collected insects of all orders for entomologists all over the United States. She then accepted the offer of a temporary position in the Department of Entomology in the Academy of Natural Science of Philadelphia, Penn. where she served as assistant for two years. Two years ago, Miss Knobel came to New England, to Boston where she studied the collection in the Museum of the Boston Society of Natural History. While there, she became acquainted with her work in Worcester, she will return to Arkansas following her completion of this work.

Strangers and visitors find a welcome at our services.

Kobe "L" Nearly Done

KOBE, Japan.—(U.P.)—Work of elevating the tracks of the main line of the Imperial Railways through Kobe, a distance of seven miles, will be completed in October, at a cost of $17,000,000. Millions of bargains of cement have been used.

Motorcycle Trade Abroad Hit By Depression

PORTLAND, Ore.—(U.P.)—The present business depression has hit the foreign trade in motorcycles, but not the trade in the United States, according to Walter Davidson, president and general manager of the Harley-Davidson Company. He says, "Business in the United States is fine. Our best foreign customer was Australia, but when the wool and wheat didn't come up to expectations, the motorcycle business went bad. England, France and Germany have large cycle factories, so the American machine has little chance."

Blame Eternal Triangle

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—(U.P.)—The "eternal triangle can be blamed for 75 per cent of the divorces granted annually in Cuyahoga county common pleas court. This figure is based on returns of 1,500 questionnaires filled out by part of the 5,000 couples who have been relieved of legal ties by Judge A. J. Pearson.

Yankee Setting For Relics of Middle Ages

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—(U.P.)—Relics of the Middle Ages are being recreated in a typical Yankee setting here to surround with a Medieval atmosphere the magnificent estate and museum of John Hays Hammond, Jr., multi-millionaire and world-famed inventor. This 20th Century castle, picturesquely overlooking the reef of Norman's Woe, scene of "The Wreck of the Hesperus," promises to become one of the outstanding show places in America.

Twenty-four cases of Roman columns, balustrades and other fragments are slowly being constructed into a 12th Century cloister at the westerly end of the castle. A Soissons window and a 15th Century Venetian wellhead of Parian marble are among the recently uncrated treasures.

Lincoln Table May Be Placed in White House

HARTFORD, Conn.—(U.P.)—The table on which Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation may take its place with other collections in the Lincoln Room at the White House in Washington. The table, now an exhibit in Memorial Hall in the State Library here, was given to the state by Daniel Nash Morgan of Bridgeport, former United States Treasurer under President Cleveland. The suggestion that it be donated or lent to the government was made by Mrs. Carl Hanna of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mammoth Tusk Found in Nebraska Sand Pit

DEWESEE, Neb.—(U.P.)—A M. Brookings of the Hastings museum, has taken an unusually large mammoth tusk from the "old mill" sand-pit near here, to be completely restored at the Hastings museum. The tusk was discovered by Fred Krell, owner of the gravel pit. It is believed the tusk is that of an imperial mammoth, the largest animal known, and is in a remarkable state of preservation. The tusk, as uncovered, was 22 inches in circumference, more than ten feet long and had more than 18 inches of the point missing.

Man Slain as He Sits in Office of Sheriff

CORUS CHRISTI, Tex.—(A.P.)—Jesus Gonzales, 28, was killed as he sat talking in the sheriff's office here Sunday afternoon. Three shots fired from a rifle struck him twice in the head and once in the body. Bernardino Lerma, from whom Gonzales had appealed to police for protection, was arrested and charged with murder in a complaint sworn out by Jim Shaw, Nueces county deputy sheriff. Motive for the shooting was not learned. Examining trial for Lerma was set for Monday afternoon.

Letter Arrives in 15 Yrs

PHILADELPHIA.—(U.P.)—A letter which was mailed January 10, 1916, reached its destination in Mt. Carmel, Pa., recently. It was mailed in Philadelphia by Ellis Kopp, now chief clerk of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, and informed his grandmother that he had passed his examinations and would soon be home. The grandmother died ten years ago.

Tea Pot Produced as Evidence at Hearing

EL DORADO.—(U.P.)—Willie Turner, a young negro, was hauled into municipal court here recently on charges of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. Officers presented to the court as evidence a tea pot. "Ah jes' made a little tea for my yistdy," she explained to the judge. "Let me see that tea pot," the judge ordered. He lifted the top off the vessel and took a smell of the contents. He clamped the lid back on the pot and said, "Fifty Dollars!"

Big Market Nearly Ready

OSAKA, Japan.—(U.P.)—Osaka's new central wholesale market, covering more than 150,000 square yards, is nearly completed and will be opened in April. The building cost more than $15,000,000. The market is part of the six year program started in 1925 when the municipal assembly adopted a proposal providing $7,500,000 for the scheme.

Co-eds Were Segregated

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(U.P.)—Co-educational colleges have not always permitted students of both sexes to mix freely, the Butler Collegian, student publication of Butler University here, said after pointing out a ruling of Sept. 2, 1856, which ordered the university president to erect "certain fences for the separation of the groups for the use of the male and female members."

Threaten Scrap in Congress

Representative Cramton

Senator Caraway

Representative Treadway

Three principals in the bitter dispute in Congress over drought and unemployment relief, in which fistfuffs are threatened, are pictured here.

The conflict reached a climax when Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas, who has been assailed in the House by Representatives Louis C. Cramton of Michigan, and Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts, after a Senate speech by Caraway, invited Cramton by telephone to meet him "any place and any time" when each could tell the other what he thought of him, face to face. Senator Caraway also made a speech on the floor of the Senate in which he said he had tried to get a similar challenge to Treadway, but did not reach him.

Fishermen Rescued From Ice Floe in Lake Erie

After drifting helplessly for many hours on a huge ice floe in the open waters of Lake Erie, these men were rescued by Coast Guardsmen who went to their aid in the face of a blinding blizzard and 50-mile gale. Thirty-five fishermen who had ventured on the ice floe off Sturgeon Point, near Buffalo, N. Y., were saved by a crew from the nearby Coast Guard station, and here you see seven of the group after they had been taken ashore. Meanwhile other crews in ice skiffs, tugs and cruisers pushed into the blinding snowstorm in search of a second huge floe on which ten men were reported to have been stranded.

CARTOONS

To picture a complex situation in current affairs in a striking and intelligible manner so that the reader may grasp the whole idea at a glance is the aim of every good cartoonist.

Leo Thiele does this. Moreover, his cartoons are outstanding for their creative thought and constructive interpretation of national issues. Often, they are flavored with a keen flash of humor or a touching bit of pathos.

These cartoons are another example of the high class features you will find in Wrestling Riots?

Speaking along lines of wholehearted devotion to a sports program, wrestling in the good old days used to occasion more riots than the well-known neighborhood games. Followers of a wrestler often have been known to become very rough when they felt that their man was getting an unfair shake. Chicago used to be the geographical center of these disturbances.

A stampede along the old lines was staged in St. Louis recently. Rudy Dusek, one of the principals in the bout, was harassing the other principal, Jim McMillen, in what was construed by many of the fans as an uncouth manner. The two men went at it, as they say in the dear old National Sporting Club, in a most active way. Rudy hit Mac, old boy, with the heels of his hands, and piled busy elbows and knees upon the McMillen anatomy.

The crowd oddly enough took the notion that Rudy was slugging Mac. They howled at Rudy. Then they began to throw things. As Rudy knocked Jim down, the works broke loose and fans started to climb into the ring. As they climbed in Rudy leaped out. Other fans began to trample him. Other fans began to trample other fans. Finally the police pried a dozen people off Rudy's prostrate form and escorted him to the dressing room.

Somewhat, these things can happen only at a wrestling match.

Course For Famous Race May Be Changed

LONDON.—(U.P.)—The historic Putney to Mortlake course of the Oxford and Cambridge Universities boat race may be changed for this year's contest.

For many years the classic has been rowed between Putney Stone, about a hundred yards above Putney Bridge, and Mortlake Brewery. A new Chiswick bridge is now being built and it is feared that the crews, if time may not be able to backwater in time

Oh, yes, Chief Bender, coach of the Giant pitchers, is an Indian, too. . . . He got his name throwing a Bender, not going on one. . . . Chief Myers, the old Giant catcher, was Injun, also. . . . and if they had been using the lively ball in the majors in his day Myers would be playing pale-faced third basemen by the score. . . . ## Real Story Behind Masks Told In Reno's Courtrooms

RENO, Nev.—(U.P.)—Reno has frequently been named "The City of Masquerade" and doubtless the term is justified, but there comes one day for each person here for divorce when the masquerade ceases, the mask is laid aside, and the face reveals many hidden things.

The real story that lies behind the mask is inevitably written on the face of the plaintiff for divorce as she nervously mounts the witness stand to recount her marital difficulties. The eyes and face, the general bearing and deportment reveals bitterness, disillusionment, relief, job, despair, misery. The face is never expressionless

Fifteen Countries Have No Sea Coats

WASHINGTON.—(U.P.)—Jests about the Swiss navy might be applied to many nations, the National Geographic Society says in a bulletin noting that there are 15 countries that have no sea coats.

Europe has eight land-locked nations—Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Andorra, San Marino, Liechtenstein and Luxembourg. Switzerland is developing its aerial lines to the highest degree to make up for its lack of access to the sea.

Old Coins Found

OSAKA, Japan.—(U.P.)—Two laborers excavating for a foundation at Tsu this month, unearthed a mud covered pot containing 54 ancient coins of the Tokugawa period. The coins were called koban and are of solid gold, oval in shape. They were valued at $1.00.

Snow Makes China Glad

SHANGHAI.—(U.P.)—Chinese in Shanghai will be able to celebrate the lunar new year in mid-February without having to worry over ill omens. For several weeks this winter no snow fell in Shanghai. And the Chinese were decidedly upset because if the new lunar year comes before the arrival of snow all sorts of ill luck can and has been known to follow. Even "rich-sha coolies, who don't crave cold water, grinned happily when Shanghai had snow early in January.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GINGER, SALLA TOLLIVER, daughter of a minister and step-daughter of the wealthy and powerful Mr. PHILIP VAN DOORN, organized a Junior Country Club in the town of Hope, Arkansas, and made it the center of her life among the younger set from becoming too dull. Accordingly, GINGER, the old farm house and remodelled it.

BARD HOLLOWAY, a young artist who was hobnobbing around the town, was attracted to her. He agreed to stay and paint portraits and decorate the new club house. He gave the name "Jule de Vire" to the club, and he suggested painting on Chinese for KICKS. GINGER, who could cook and sing and strum a guitar.

But Kicks could come, in his place there arrived three of his countrymen. ANGIE was a beautiful PIERCE could sing, GINGER took them on.

Bard began to realize he was in love with GINGER. He suggested that she should stay and paint portraits and decorate the new club house. He gave the name "Jule de Vire" to the club, and he suggested painting on Chinese for KICKS. GINGER, who could cook and sing and strum a guitar.

But Kicks could come, in his place there arrived three of his countrymen. ANGIE was a beautiful PIERCE could sing, GINGER took them on.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVIII
SPEED did not overlook this partiality of Cotton's for Eddy Jackson, and realized that what was patent to him must be the same to GINGER. This, then, was the trouble.

She was jealous, and Speed, who had been invited solely to cheer her up, had added to her worries by bringing with him a pretty target for her jealousy. He was increasingly annoyed Cotton, who followed Eddy Jackson around the place wherever he went, hung on his every word, and made frank efforts to appropriate him and get rid of Bard.

On the second day he decided that she was going too far, so he took her aside and told her about it in an ugly voice.

"I suppose with two men in the house—not counting Mr. Tolliver—I'm responsible for bringing you and your word, I wonder at here."
